Comments: Even though Sonic Breakout is a good episode, it was skipped as I thought it would take a lot of work since it is a plain Mobius story. This episode is actually very strangely a second pilot since it was based off the unfinished Adventures of Super Mario story - The Missing Luigi, that was the second most complete episode next to the Magic Hassle and the SMSSSS. Like the Danger Mouse episode The Mystery of the Lost Chord, there were lots of changes but kept a similar feeling to this fan fic. Also this episode is 13 years old (1 October 1993 in the US) so this is a good way to tribute the story.

Adventures of Usagi Tsukino (AoUTK) - Episode 105 (107) Trail of the Missing Ami (13th Anniversary Edition)

Inside some dark building somewhere in Japan, a mysterious person in the dark is sat on a machine pulling levers up and down.

The stranger spoke, "Five years, it has been five long years since the laboratory explosion but I shall have my revenge since all I need now is Sailor Moon."

Outside the park, the blond haired henchman was placing a piece of white cake onto a checkered table which he went towards a large metallic machine wrenching the bolts.

Jadeite excitely shouted, "Oh yeah, oh yeah, when that Sailor Senshi shows, it's showtime!"

The blond haired henchman was tightening the bolts when he fell down towards the ground which the machine collapsed on top of him. Kunzite was holding a large heavy brown bag of potatoes and was placing it onto a weight machine.

"What's the matter Jadeite, pressure getting to you?", asked the grey haired henchman.

Over at the other side of the table, the brown haired minion was pushing back a claw from a sideways claw machine which are found on arcades.

Nephrite moaned, "Why bother since I would get credit for defeating Serena?"

"Don't bet on it Nephwrong, I would get credit for defeating that cringing crybaby", replied his partner in crime.

Suddenly out of nowhere, the bag of potatoes fell on top of the grey haired henchman's foot which he was rubbing it due to the pain.

Kunzite yelled, "Ouch, that's gonna hurt for weeks!"

The blond haired henchman pulled his comrades shirts and pointed towards a very distant blonde object.

"Listen carefully", whispered Jadeite.

Impersonating Scratch, Grounder and Coconuts, the three henchmen held their ears next to each other as they hear some Japanese talking getting closer towards them. The talking was coming from the two heroines as they stopped the street before going into the park.

Usagi spoke while her teeth were out smiling, "It is sure a nice day to go to the park, isn't it Ami?"

"I think so Usagi but I think I would rather be better inside and you took Makoto out", replied the blue haired girl while sounding gruffer than normal.

Suddenly a strange scent was going into the blonde haired heroine's nose as she smelt the odour coming from the park.

The blonde Sailor Senshi blinked, "Can't you smell the delicious aroma of glacing, pastry and the quality of sweet flour?"

Strangely the extremely off model blue haired heroine's mouth was going overboard and was biting into thin air. Quickly she then scratched her head while she was off model.

"A piece of white cake, it has to be a trap", warned Ami while pointing towards the table.

Sailor Moon replied, "Well of course it's a trap Ami, cause that's half the fun!" She then added, "I like my ice cream cones and my mouthfuls of cake well sugary with danger!"

Very quickly the blue haired sidekick walked towards the entrance of the park but her blonde haired pal grabbed her shoulders and held her back.

"Hang-on Ami, this is a solo mission so you have to stay here", pointed the protective Sailor Senshi.

Looking both ways for traffic, the blonde haired heroine walked towards the direction of the park which her pal put her head down that she will not able to help the famous Japanese anime character after what has previously happened.

Ami sighed, "Aw, gee, Usagi..."

Back to the cake trap, the grey haired henchman was studying the position of the cake which he scratched his head and adjusted the plate to perfection. Out of nowhere, the brown haired partner hit him on the head with a plate as he heard a happy high pitched voice.

"She's coming, get ready!", yelped Nephrite while badly taking the voice of the early Sega games.

As soon as the sentence was finished, all three of the Super Special Serena Search and Smash Squad member hide behind the two bushes with Nephrite on the left bush, Kunzite and Jadeite on the right bush as the blonde haired heroine arrived at the table.

Usagi sarcastically spoke, "Why look, a piece of cake that is all alone out here in the middle of a park table!" She breathed out while prasing the food and continued, "How incredibly fortunate because I'm sooo hungry!"

Behind the bush, the grey haired henchman was spying on the victim and looked at his blond haired partner.

"She's falling for it", whispered Kunzite while not noticing the sarcasm in the voice.

Jadeite replied, "I think the Sailor Senshi was acting like another Sailor Senshi."

Suddenly the browned haired goon got out from the bush not noticing that very quickly the blonde haired heroine got the piece of cake with an angry look on his face.

"Just stay there one more second, and you'll be my ticket to a rich reward from Queen Beryl", gloated Nephrite.

Sailor Moon then sneaked behind the brown haired henchman and pressed the button on the claw machine while eating a piece of cake which got hold of the three henchmen and tossed them up and down across the park. Then the machine that Jadeite was working on fired a pink laser at the three stooges which the lackeys were burnt to a crisp and with a loud bang the machine exploded. Over the road, Sailor Mercury saw the explosion and potatoes were flying across the road.

Ami panickally screamed, "Usagi, Usagi, where are you?"

As soon as possible, the blue haired heroine ran towards the explosion which then she started to cry knowing that her pal might be gone. She then fell down a hole that was created by the explosion and rubbed her head which suddenly all three henchmen grabbed her. Little did the Sailor Senshi know that the blonde haired heroine sneaked out from the back entrance and walked towards the spot where her pal was. The schoolgirl looked both sides of the road noticing that her pal is gone and scratched her head.

"Ami, where are you?", asked the blonde haired girl.

The damsel in distress replied as the sound boomed across the area holidng her ears, "Helllppp, Usagi!"

The blonde Sailor Senshi bravely spoke, "That's Ami, poor girl that her intelligence attracts henchmen."

Usagi quickly ran back towards the park which at the blast spot, the blond haired henchman was tieing up the blue haired girl with a rope similar to the first episode except that Jadeite was not good at tieing up people as he struggled to make knots in the rope. The original henchmen then gave the frightened blue haired girl an dastardly smirk.

"I got Serena's little tag along, too bad that she is a villian as she would come in handy", spoke Jadeite.

Nephrite replied, "Yeah, her smartness would be so useful as she has a brain of 300 IQ like a certain two tailed fox."

"Not to mention that she is kinda cute like the said character", complimented Kunzite.

However as the three henchmen was looking at the blue haired heroine, she was screaming with her eyes tightly squeezed.

Sailor Mercury shouted, "Let me go!"

Without any regrets, the browned haired henchman put a white gag over the blue haired Sailor Senshi's mouth as Jadeite was still trying to catch the rope into the right postion.

"Queen Beryl would be so proud of me", gloated Nephrite.

Kunzite grunted, "Oh yeah, she would be proud of me for getting rid of the smartypants."

The blond haired goon is now stuck in the rope which the grey haired henchman pulled to free his comrade. Suddenly above the hole, the blonde haired heroine waved towards her captive pal who was muffling which the henchmen were furious and gritted their teeth.

"You guys are so pathetic, picking on a defenseless girl like that", yelled Usagi while putting her hands on her hips posing.

Very quickly, the brown haired henchman got hold of the tied victim and was pulling the rope on the blue haired girl.

Nephrite stated the obvious, "We've got your sidekick here, you tiara troublemaker."

"What are you going to do, put a costume on to fool us?", asked Jadeite while pointing at Japanese anime character.

Sailor Moon threw her tiara towards the henchmen which they ducked going into the rope cutting it to rescue the blue haired girl and the blonde girl pulled out of her pocket an inflatable Usagi Tsukino which she threw on the ground. As quickly as possible, the henchmen jumped onto the inflatable as the tiara cut through the rope which the blue haired girl jumped.

Ami excited bellowed out, "Yay, I'm free, you did a great job, Usagi!"

The henchmen were still fighting the inflatable as the heroines sneaked away from the park and headed towards the direction of their high school walking very slowly after picking up the tiara off the ground.

"Didn't I tell you to wait back there?", asked the blonde haired heroine in a threating tone.

The depressed blue haired girl sulked, "Yeah but..."

As soon as Sailor Mercury was explaining to her pal about the machine exploded and wanting to rescue her pal, the blonde haired Sailor Senshi interrupted her.

"But you didn't do it", yelled Usagi not knowing the English language.

Ami upsetly replied, "Sorry Usagi."

Like true to her nature, the blonde haired heroine stopped walking and hugged her pal desperate to cheer her up.

"Hey just keep it in mind next time, all right?", forgave the Sailor Senshi and she added, "You're important to me."

The blue haired girl stopped being depressed and smiled towards her pal which she calmed down as well showing the true side of friendship.

Sailor Moon quickly spoke, "Come on, let's get out of here!"

The two heroines walked towards their high school which at the explosion site, the inflatable was destroyed making a comical sound effect. Meanwhile back in the dark building, the mysterious person was watching all of the action on a projector screen on his machine.

"So Queen Beryl wants the Sailor Senshi, aye?", asked the stranger to himself.

The unknown person rubbed his hands in the darkness while laughing out of tune.

The mysterious stranger continued, "Then so do I and I think I know just how to reel her in!"

After the stressful day, it is night time in Tokyo and the two heroines are sleeping in the Tsukino family house. The next morning in her decorative bedroom, the blonde haired heroine yawned and got up from her bed stretching around.

Usagi asked "What do you say you and me go make this day very special, sounds like a plan doesn't it Ami, Ami-chan are you awake?"

The Sailor Senshi then approached the blue sleeping bag and opened it to reveal an empty sleeping bag without Sailor Mercury which would be expected as they help each other.

"Ami!? Ami!? Aammii!", screamed the blonde haired heroine like a Star Wars character yelling No.

In the Dark Kingdom or more accurately Queen Beryl's lair, the three henchmen had just arrived back from their failed mission checking in when suddenly the evil dictator stood on their way with her arms crossed.

Beryl yelled, "Three seperate traps and a kidnapping, and none of them worked?"

This had caused the three henchmen to be very scared and nervous, Nephrite was shaking his legs, Kunzite was chatting his teeth and Jadeite was shaking his head side by side. The queen gave each of them a dirty look.

"Not exactly...", stuttered the brown haired henchman.

The grey haired goon yelped, "Just not on Sailor Moon."

Suddenly Nephrite and Kunzite growled at each other while the red haired baroness was twirling her hair.

The two members of the Super Special Serena Search and Smash Squad pointed at each other and shouted in unison, "It was his fault!"

Following on, the blond haired henchman pointed at his comrades which the evil dictator pushed her face towards her lackeys while looking scared.

"Shut up all of you, you're all incompetent and you stink of potatoes mixed with Senshi sweat", growled Queen Beryl while holding her nose.

The henchmen started to walk away backwards from the furious dictator which she followed psuhing her face and waving her finger directly towards them.

Beryl continued, "I can't believe that I have hired you three in the first place since I would have done a better job myself, no more excuses, I want that squashed Sailor Senshi and I want it now!"

As soon as the sentence had finished, a blonde object was at the distance which the queen looked out of her window and noticing that the object is getting closer. Very quickly the evil dictator screamed in frustration.

"Battle stations you simpletons, it's that sickening little tiara wearing troublemaker!" yelled Queen Beryl.

Outside the lair, the blonde haired heroine ducked some swinging hammers, tiptoed on some land mines that quickly exploded and tripped up accidentally when peas were firing. A quick scene change revealed that the grey haired goon was on a machine pulling a lever that was created the minions.

Kunzite bellowed out, "Main weapons power bank activated!"

At the other side of the lair, the brown haired henchman pulled a lever after saluting his highness and at the top of the hideout, the blond haired lackey was turning on some dials on a machine which behind him were some monitors displaying their enemy.

"Laser cannons ready to cook, ready to order a Sailor Senshi sandwich", gloated Jadeite.

Near the throne, the evil dictator was looking on the monitor at the off model blonde haired heroine which her mouth looked strange and her nose was drawn off. Quickly a crosshair came up on the screen focusing on the schoolgirl.

Beryl ordered, "On my command fire, ready... aim... whaaaaa...?"

Suddenly the blonde haired heroine pulled the plug outside the lair that turned off the screen and deactivated the weapons. The blonde girl was holding the plug smiling as the queen looked outside her window.

"Ohh...hold your fire, my dear Serena if I had known you were coming, I would have gave you a stomach ache", gloated the evil queen.

Usagi replied while pointing her foe, "Never mind the cheesy jokes that you copy, Berkyl!" She breathed out and asked, "What have you done with Sailor Mercury?"

The evil red haired dictator was shocked and scratched her head think that she should have chose the idea and she turned to her henchmen who also looked shocked as they did not capture the blue haired girl for a change.

"You three, sneak and grab that Sailor Moon while I would chat to her", whispered Queen Beryl while waving her finger.

The henchmen left the lair while the villainess turned back towards the window stretching her arms which then the blonde haired heroine was tapping her foot.

Beryl happily spoke, "To be truthful, you silly schoolgirl, I have no idea where your feckless friend is."

The off model blonde Sailor Senshi stretched her head and gave a blank look towards her enemy.

"Why should I believe you?", asked Usagi.

Very quickly back at the window, the evil dictator bent over and put her head onto the window ledge. She then sat on the window ledge putting her arms on the back of her head.

The queen smoothly spoke, "Use your tiny head, if I'd captured your companion which I didn't, I'd be torturing her right now."

Extremely strangely, the blonde haired heroine became very off model like another animation studio took over to continue the work. The Sailor Senshi's eyes became wider with black eyes instead of her usual colour, her head was more circular, her hair was a bright yellow and her mouth was just like Sonic the Hedgehog's as she showed her hands out in a forgiveness look.

"If you didn't take her, where'd she go?", asked the blonde haired heroine.

Back at the window, the red haired villain was rubbing her head while looking like that she would fall out of the window at anytime.

Queen Beryl suggested, "Perhaps she left on her own accord after all she is old enough, did you two have a falling out recently?"

Behind the different animation studio blonde schoolgirl, the three henchmen sneaked behind the girl ready to catch her which they grinded their teeth looking furious.

"Uh yeah, well yeah maybe, I guess but I never I mean... I didn't mean to--", stuttered Sailor Moon.

The henchmen then quickly grabbed the Sailor Senshi as she was thinking but she ducked and ran towards another area while the three stooges were fighting. The Japanese anime character was still off model however her eyes have returned back to her original colour.

Usagi asked, "Oh, where are you Ami?" She showed her left hand out and determinely spoke, "If you've run away because of me I'll never forgive myself!"

As the blonde haired character ran to search for the blue haired girl, the evil dictator shook her fist and gave inaudiable mumbles towards the blonde haired heroine. She then looked at her henchmen who was standing with a ready to go look on them.

"Nephrite, Kunzite, Jadeite", shouted Queen Beryl.

The three henchmen replied, "Yes, your evil excellence."

"I finally have a good idea, while Serena is looking for Sailor Mercury we would be squashing the Sailor Senshi as she would be too distracted, either that or hire a fake friend", suggested the dictator.

Suddenly Queen Beryl laughed as the Super Special Serena Search and Smash Squad were rubbing their hands smiling that they have an idea to destroy the blonde haired scchoolgirl. The blond haired henchman was doing a Coconuts impression which Nephrite and Kunzite laughed like Scratch and Grounder. Outside the Dark Kingdom, the blonde haired girl was sneaking out while she was still looked like another animation company did the work as she was off model.

Usagi yelled, "Ami, oh Ami, where are you?"

Will Sailor Moon ever find Ami? Will Queen Beryl finally get rid of her foe? Who is the mysterious stranger? Find out after the break.

Just in time which strangely this episode would look right in place in the original anime as well as a parody.
